The history of Arlington (first known as Merotomy, and then West Cambridge) goes back to the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The first grist mill in the Bay Colony was erected here; Arlington also had the first free public library in the state. The men of the town answered Paul Revere's call at daybreak, engaged in the heaviest fighting on that memorable day and made the first capture of British men and supplies in the revolution.

A Poor Time, Last Week, To Close Wading Pools

The Press has received a number of inquiries from mothers living near the North Union St. playground, who wonder why the wading pool at the playground was not in use last Friday and Saturday—two of the season's hottest days.

Their children, they point out, would certainly have enjoyed the wading pool on those hot days, but the water was turned off.

The park department informs us that the reason is this: the playground season closed last Friday, and while the department would have liked to let children into the pool they had no attendants available and if anyone had been injured there would have been criticism.

It seems to us that the park department should be permitted a little leeway to meet an unusual condition such as existed last week. The playground season was over, but it should have been possible to get the money somewhere to keep attendants on duty through the hot weather.

Could this be kept in mind when the next budget is drawn up?

Lodges Could Use A Central Meeting Place

Some day, one or another of Arlington's social or fraternal organizations may decide to put up its own building, with space to be rented to other organizations.

Several groups may already have entertained such an idea—which is a sound one, and would fill here a real community need.

A three-story building, for instance, could have stores on the first floor to help amortize the construction cost and carrying charges; the second floor could have a number of small meeting rooms, and the third floor a large auditorium.

We believe such a project could be made a profitable one financially for the sponsoring organization.

SOMETHING MAY BE DONE to eliminate the hazardous condition at the unprotected Swan Pl. railroad crossing, shown above. The Boston & Maine, in a letter this week to the selectmen, said it had launched an investigation to determine how rail traffic could be operated over this crossing with hazard. The selectmen asked a careful study of conditions after a freight train recently ran down an auto containing three women passengers.

Monica

She was a happy girl,
(her parents' fond delight)
With wavy honey-colored hair, and eyes so warm and bright.

She liked to play as children do,
all games to her were fun,
She liked her dolls and her toys
she liked to romp and run.

She was a dainty little miss,
and sweet as she was fair,
A ray of sunshine—the answer to a mother's prayer.

And now, all swathed in bandage,
she lies on a bed of pain;
The sight of her so quiet, still,
just tears the heart in twain.

Her body is severely burned,
but there's no moan or tear,
Or lack of simple faith in Him
Who bids us have no fear.

If she were mine, what would I do were all my efforts vain
To give her solace and relief from agonizing pain?

What if I had no means at hand to make her body new,
And she must grow to womanhood with all her scars in view?

Consider how her parents grieve,
and what their days must be,
So filled with gloom and loneliness and deep anxiety.

Oh God in heaven keep them strong and don't let them despair,
Grant them Thy sweetest comfort, and give them courage rare.

We pray that all hearts soften to help them in their grief,
And make it possible for them to give their child relief.

Variety Show Closes Playground Season

The outstanding event of the 1948 Playground Program was the musicale and variety show held last Thursday evening before a capacity audience at the Hardy School, which closed the 1948 playground season.

Playground youngsters under the direction of their leaders put on a very interesting show. The Hardy youngsters opened festivities with "Minstrel Memories," an amusing half-hour minstrel show.

Feature event of the evening was "H. M. S. Pinafore" directed by Gertrude Sampson and Patricia Ryan, in which children from No. Union and Crosby playgrounds were cast.

Mrs. Warren Bean, 145 Charlestown St., volunteered as pianist for the musicale.

Ice cream and tonic, donated by merchants, were served to the youngsters after the show.

Possible Sites For Vets' Housing Are Inspected By Board

A number of possible sites for the construction of veterans' homes were examined Monday evening by members of the recently-created Arlington Housing Authority.

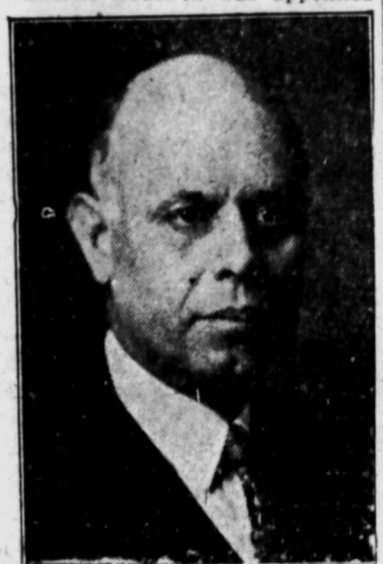

The board members, who are naturally not making known what sites they find acceptable until they reach a definite decision, were accompanied on their tour by R. S. Colby, a representative of the development division of the State Housing Board.

Mr. Colby also remained in attendance at a meeting which fol-

Gen. Boutwell, Seeking Reelection As Sheriff, Has An Unusual Record

The campaign for the nomination and election of Louis E. Boutwell, present High Sheriff of Middlesex County, is receiving practically unanimous support from leading Republicans and Independents throughout the County, according to his friends.

Sheriff Boutwell was appointed last year by Gov. Bradford when the former sheriff Loring R. Kew, died suddenly. Mr. Boutwell's appointment was widely acclaimed and his decision to run for election, despite the considerable personal sacrifice involved, has been acclaimed.

General Boutwell's brilliant military career began with his enlistment as a Private in World War I. He soon qualified as a pilot in the Air Corps, was commissioned a second lieutenant, and saw considerable service in France. After the Armistice, Boutwell remained on active duty in France for another year engaged in important staff and diplomatic work involving the French Government.

Returning to his home, the general resumed his civilian pursuits as a practicing lawyer. He served in the government of his home city, Malden, rendered outstanding service as assistant district attorney of Middlesex County, took a leading part in civic and philanthropic affairs and, in every respect, demonstrated that the same qualities of leadership, which had characterized his military career were equally true of his civilian life.

At the same time, General Boutwell continued to serve his country in the National Guard where he commanded the aviation units in this state, developing them from a small, untrained beginning into the famous 26th Group which, at the outbreak of World War II, became the backbone of the Anti-Submarine Coastal defense. General Boutlowed at the headquarters of the Authority in the Robbins House.

The local board subsequently said, in a press release:

"The members of the Arlington Housing Authority are, and will be within the next few weeks, busily engaged in proceeding as rapidly as possible consistent with sound judgment, in initiating action that will result in appropriate veterans' housing in Arlington."

There has thus far been no announcement as to how many home units are planned here.

well held high staff and command positions during the early part of the war when German submarines were exacting a heavy toll of Allied shipping but, when the Anti-Submarine Command was fully operational, this threat diminished almost entirely.

General Boutwell then proceeded to the Seventh Air Force in the Pacific, where he directed the final combat training of our air crews and later commanded air attack elements in the air against the Japanese. He was wounded by Japanese flak while bombing Marcus Island but insisted on remaining on duty and assumed heavy staff responsibilities in the final stages of the Japanese war.

After V-J Day, he returned to Massachusetts to take up his interrupted civilian life again, but soon the clarion call of military duty sounded again. General Boutwell was asked to rebuild the completely disorganized Air Force units of New England—a most difficult, discouraging task in the apathetic uninterested months following the end of the war. The critical urgency of the task left him no alternative, however, and he plunged immediately into the new problem.

As a result, General Boutwell's command, the 67th Fighter Wing of the Air National Guard, is rated the finest Wing in the entire National Guard Air Force, coast to coast, and is charged with the defense of the entire New England citizens hear the roar of powerful Thunderbolt Fighters overhead, flown by the cream of New England airmen—indeed a friendly, reassuring note in these uncertain troublous days. And they feel that we will not again be caught napping as we were on December 7, 1941.

Today, General Boutwell is a living example of the slogan, "If you need to have something important done, ask the busiest man you know." Years of experience as a top-flight lawyer, administrator and soldier have developed an infinite capacity for work and achievement in the Sheriff.

His genius for organization and direction enable him to maintain the closest executive control over the various affairs which he directs yet leave a calm, genial gentleman willing to lend an ear to a who come to his door. His kind, courteous interest in other people's problems has won him a host of friends in all walks of life and it requires only a brief visit to his office to find evidence of that fact.

He sums up his philosophy in the words, "There is no greater happiness in life than the satisfaction of being able to render service to your fellow man. I have had a wonderful life in that respect—I have had great opportunities to serve and my only ambition is to keep on doing so."

Sheriff Boutwell's affiliations include: Military Order of the Purple Heart, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Guard Association, Boston Chamber of Commerce, New England

Aero Club and many other patriotic civic and fraternal organizations. Pond last Wednesday by taking up a collection for Monica Cotter.

Bright and early the next morning two representatives of the team were at the Press office to turn in $13-made up of two dollar bills, quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies.

The Hoboes-St. Agnes game had its thrills and its outcome for a while was much in doubt. St. Agnes in fact, was leading 5 to 4 in the sixth inning, when Cahaly of the Hoboes singled with two on base, changing the picture to a 6-5 victory.

Peterson and Keneally were the battery for the Hobos, and Carey and Ranoni for St. Agnes. Carey's appearance in the pitching box for St. Agnes was a bit unusual, for he's the Hoboes' manager. But it was all in fun.

Boys' Club Faces Fall, Winter Activities With Renovations, Additions

Resplendent in a new coat of paint, the Arlington Boys' Club is more than ever the center of attention to visitors to Spy Pond and Spy Pond playground.

Glistening with a color combination of gray body and red trim, the exterior of the Boys' Club has undergone a facelifting operation complete to the installation of new screens and roofs.

Keeping pace with the outside, the interior has also had some renovations. A complete overhaul of the senior room leads a parade of surprises for the 850 members of the club on their return from various vacation activities.

Some of the other items on the August renovation list include a new check room, a new reading room and redecorating of the lobby, stairs and lower hall. Locker room and shower room have also been dressed up. New lines have been painted on the gym floor and the floor itself has been treated to make it one of Arlingtons finest basketball courts.

A beautiful new American flag, the gift of Mrs. James A. Bailey, floats high above the Boys' Club, and a complete Kardex File System, gift of an anonymous friend, will be in use during the fall months. Other gifts include five ping pong tables and a new junior size billiard table.

The kitchen of the club has also received much attention with a new white sink, gift of Roscoe O. Elliot, and new steel cabinets, gifts of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

The costs of the painting and renovation were completely underwritten by two Boston Charity Funds from grants made to the Boys' Club too be used only for this.

Operational money at the club comes from the Red Feather Chest.

I Wonder?

I WONDER if the Advocate accidentally used a few extra zeros in referring to its typesetting machines as worth $12,000 each, or is this the kind of inflation we're headed for?

I WONDER who is the pretty red-headed donut shop clerk who has the most and largest freckles in town?

I WONDER if Dick Gott has trapped enough animals yet to start his trophy room?

I WONDER if Eddie Corrigan, of Edward's, will like Navy service?

I WONDER who's business was so bad that he had to let his one and only store clerk go without even an hour's notice?

I WONDER if the youths who were bathing at Reservoir Beach at 2 a. m. learned a lesson when the cops grabbed their clothes on the shore?

I WONDER how many realized that George A. Harris, member of the Monica Trust Fund committee, helped run the benefit show Monday despite the fact he was a very sick man?

I WONDER how many have been amazed by the Easter lilies that have just blossomed at the home of Mrs. E. L. Curtis at 24 Swan Pl.?

I WONDER why so few politicians have shown an interest in the Monica fund?

I WONDER if the MTA will ever replace its noisy trolleys on Mass. Ave., with trackless trolleys, eliminating the dangerous safety isles that motorists are always running into?

I WONDER who stole a $12 coil of fence wire from the back yard at 83 Wright St.?

I WONDER if the Boys' Club doesn't look much better in its new coat of paint?

I WONDER if there'll be a romance blooming soon between Walt Curtis and that Boston model?

I WONDER if you'll remember that the library is back on its regular hour schedule beginning Tuesday?

I WONDER who was the 'meanest' thief who stole a Monica collection bank from Walter's Arlington Heights car barn store last week?

I WONDER how come Dr. Hodgdon never mentioned he had a beautiful daughter?

I WONDER if Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Donovan and daughter Ann weren't lucky to be enjoying the cool breezes at Provincetown during the heat wave?

I WONDER how Mailman Roger Orms enjoyed his 42nd birthday yesterday, pounding along Heights mail route as usual?

Loring Jordan Outstanding Probate Head

Loring P. Jordan, Register of Probate and Insolvency for Middlesex County, a candidate for the Republican nomination for re-election to a six-year term in the forthcoming primaries, Sept. 14, is an outstanding and capable county official, a former official in his native town of Wakefield, and a widely-known member of the legal profession.

His nomination and subsequent election in November is anticipated by a wide, well-qualified legion of friends, not only among members of the Bar Association, but by all thinking citizens and those who have had occasion to use the probate court office, or its departments, since his appointment to fill a vacancy in 1925. He has since been successfully re-elected each term.

Mr. Jordan not only has specialized in probate law and procedure, but is widely recognized as an authority in the field. He served as secretary of the committee which compiled the present rules of procedure under which the Probate Courts of the State operate and was chairman of committees which have drafted many labor and time-saving methods under which the Probate Courts operate. He exerts every effort to perform the duties of this important office faithfully and conscientiously, and the efficiency, skill and knowledge with which his personally-directed staff conducts this phase of the county's business is a monument to his administration and a personal tribute to him.

Through Mr. Jordan's foresight, his office pioneered in establishing, in 1927, the first photographic copying court records in this state. Although the office of the secretary of state had a small machine, it was many years later that other courts saw the advantage of this equipment, with the result that only one year ago, Suffolk County installed similar equipment. Other courts and several registries of deeds have followed suit. This equipment and procedure has meant a tremendous saving to the commonwealth, has been economical, efficient, is a timesaver and is 100 per cent accurate compared to the old method of hand-copying of wills, citations and other documents.

Mr. Jordan was graduated from Northeastern University in 1907, and because of recognized qualifications, was appointed an instructor at Robert College in Constantinople, Turkey. He returned to this country in 1909 and was admitted to the Bar, for which he had trained. But he was destined to go abroad again. His experience in the Near East resulted in his selection in 1910 as private secretary to W. Morgan Shuster, the American financial adviser who had been called to Persia to straighten out that country's tangled financial affairs.

After this assignment he resumed practice of law in Boston in 1911 and in succeeding years took an active part in Wakefield affairs and represented Wakefield in the state legislature from 1920-22. He served 21 years as secretary of the town finance committee, besides being chairman of the special town committee named in 1925 to consider the problem of a possible change in form of government. Few heads of state or county departments have had such a variety of interesting and valuable experience.

It is also an interesting coincidence that his former law partner, George M. Poland, also a resident of Wakefield, is the judge of the Probate Court of Nantucket (Island) County and special judge in Middlesex Court.

Mr. Jordan's other interests over the years have been numerous and include membership on the council of the Middlesex Bar Association (1925-45), trustee of the East Cambridge Savings Bank since '32, director of the Wakefield Chamber of Commerce since 1933, and director of the Wakefield Taxpayers' Association (1940-42).

He is the 20th register of Middlesex County and since 1817 all registers have been members of the Bar and have possessed special qualifications for the office. For more than fifty years, since the office of assistant register was created, all the registers have served as assistants before promotion to the office of register and of course this is true in Mr. Jordan's case, who served his apprenticeship from 1922 to 1925, when he was named register by Former Gov. Fuller. He has served under Judges Lawton, Leggat, Harris and Monahan, each of whom have relied heavily upon his counsel, advice and professional tact.

Mr. Jordan's family comprises his wife, a daughter, and two adult sons. His elder son, Loring P. Jr., also a member of the Bar and connected with one of Boston's best known legal firms, is moderator of the town of Wakefield. Both sons are veterans of World War II.

Home For Awhile, Monica Is Cheered By Gift Of A Dog

"Would Monica like to have a little dog to amuse her and keep her company?" Mrs. John Cotter was asked this week.

"A real live dog?," asked Mrs. Cotter. "That would be wonderful! Only the other day Mr. Cotter was saying how nice it would be if Monica had a dog when she came home."

Well, it so happened that Monica came home—between operations—Monday afternoon. And she received her dog—a fine male collie, two and a half months old, presented to her by Dog Officer Sam Femia.

Officer Femia had come to the Press office Monday morning, with an offer to give Monica the collie "or any other kind of dog she wants—if she wants one."

The suggestion was conveyed to the Cotters, and from Boston later that day Mr. Cotter phoned that he was giving Monica home in his car and it was arranged that he make a stop at the Press.

Mr. Femia was contacted; he brought the dog down and when Monica stopped for a moment outside the Press office her eyes lit up when she spotted the dog and was told it was hers.

She wasn't up to the excitement of petting the dog, however; she was exhausted from the trip from Boston and reclined, tiredly, on the front seat of her father's car. Her face and arms were raw from recent skin graftings, and her clothing covered other areas of her body from which skin was removed for grafting.

The operations having gone as far as they can now, the little girl must be given time to mend before the next operation.

At Mass. General Hospital, where she has been a "star patient,"—seldom complaining and a great pet of the nurses—she received a number of dolls. So many that little Monica herself remarked:

"I guess I'll give some of these to some other little girls."

But she had no dog—until Monday. And the frisky little collie delighted her instantly.

Just Between Us

KEYS TO AN ATTRACTIVE HOME
By Maria Caterine

It was just the other day that I dropped in on Lenore Garland at her home. It was my honest intent to obtain from her a story, which we thought might interest you, in connection with her activities on the MBS "Adventures of the Falcon" programs. Even had our favorite photographer with us. We got some pictures all right, but not the story. Reason? Lenore was in the midst of doing some pre-fall refurbishing of her apartment and our aid was immediately enlisted. Later, over a gracious cup of tea placed on a stepladder alongside a plate of sandwiches, we discussed little things which make brightening the home easier. From our scribbled notes, therefore, here are some items which might be helpful to you too.

'It's Easy As Pie'

1. Small areas of wallpaper located where they might be easily spotted or water stained may be protected by spraying several light coats of artist's fixative over them, allowing several minutes for drying after each application. An ordinary fly spray device serves this purpose very well.
2. Blotting paper is a good substitute for felt when glued or rubber-cemented to bases of table lamps and book ends to prevent scratching polished surfaces.
3. A brown crayon is handy for inconspicuous repair on furniture scratches. After filling in a scratch with it, rub the marred place with the tip of a finger to blend the color and cover with furniture wax or polish. The scratch will then be difficult to detect.
4. Coating chair nailheads with colorless fingernail polish will help avoid marks caused when chairs rub against walls.
5. Delightful picture frames can be made for the kitchen or for a child's room from the two-piece porcelain and metal screw top lids used to seal fruit jars. Place the lid on a table with the white side up and decorate with a gay decalcomania. The sealing rings may be painted in a contrasting color to harmonize with both the decals and the room. As illustrated in the photograph here, pie tins from the five and dime store, painted in a like manner, with decalcomanias applied and with holes drilled near the rims, also serve as attractive wall plaques.
6. Gay potholders artistically placed in a shadow-box frame against a white background, or contrasting color, with frames painted in harmonizing shades, will add a note of cheerfulness to a kitchen.

From Far - Off Guam Comes $2 For Monica

From all the way out in Guam this week came a cash contribution for the Monica Coter Fund. It was from David B. Kennedy, to whom someone evidently had mailed a copy of the Press.

He enclosed two one-dollar bills, with this note:

"Compliments to the Arlington Press for its active participation in the Coter Trust Fund campaign. 'Even though my copy of the Press is a week or ten days old when I receive it, it's read and re-read.'

"Providing you maintain your current policy and initiative, the paper should enjoy tremendous success. Among other things, I look to the Press to prompt early action by the Housing Authority."

The letter, air mailed in Guam Aug. 24—last Tuesday—reached the Press in Monday morning's mail.

Berkeley Cue Broadcasts For Monica

Every day this week, an appeal for contributions to the Monica Coter fund is being broadcast over station WTAO in Cambridge, sponsored by Berkeley Cue, Inc., Arlington Firestone dealers.

A one-minute message at 3:50 p. m., immediately following a news broadcast, explains that Monica Coter "is a pretty little Arlington girl who was horribly burned about the face and arms," and that a fund is being raised to restore her health and appearance."

Listeners are urged to send contributions, however small to Walter Chamberlain, fund treasurer, at the Arlington Cooperative Bank.

Ex-GI With Hopes To Crash Radio Field Wins Date With Hub Beauty

Walter E. Curtis, 25-year-old ex-GI of 24 Swan Place, was engaged in a pleasant occupation last week: dining, dancing, escorting about town and being photographed with one of Boston's prettiest feminine models.

Walter won a contest sponsored by the Orpheum and State theatre chain in connection with the showing in Boston of the film, "Date With Judy."

The contest—for bachelors only—was for the best answer in writing to the question: "Why I would like a date with Judy."

Walter won the contest and a date with Judy McGrath, Waban girl who in 1946 was chosen by photographers as Boston's most photogenic girl.

He had lunch with Judy at the Copley Plaza, where they were photographed. Then came a tour of Boston and, in the evening, dining and dancing at the Sheraton Roof.

The Arlington youth, an honor graduate of Arlington High in 1941, was a medical corpsman in the Army and has ambitions to break into the field of radio. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Curtis, and is entering Leland Powers School to study diction, voice, script writing and advertising.

Many of his friends were quite envious when they saw his picture, with Miss McGrath, in a Boston paper.

Dr. Hodgdon Moves After 20 Years In One Place

After more than 20 years at one location, Dr. H. E. Hodgdon, well known optometrist, moved this week to new offices at 18 Pleasant St.

Dr. Hodgdon moved into the building at 485 Mass. Ave. in Arlington Center—the ground floor of which is now occupied by a Stop and Shop store—20 years and six months ago, immediately after it was built.

He and Dr. E. H. Beaton, dentist, took offices on the second floor about that time and have continued there ever since—until Dr. Hodgdon's removal this week.

At the start, Dr. Hodgdon occupied but one room. He had previously had an optometrist's office for 18 months in the old Menotomy Bank building. Some time after becoming a tenant at No. 485 he took over a second office, and in these quarters he has—down through the years—examined the eyes and filled prescriptions for thousands of persons.

His new quarters consist of three rooms, adjoining Harry Baker's real estate office, and are on the first floor. He has thoroughly renovated the premises to create a modern reception room, examination room and laboratory.

Strange Dog Takes Bite Of Strange Man

Perhaps because he didn't feel at home in a strange town—and the heat bothered him anyway—a Newfoundland dog whose owner was visiting friends on Devereaux St. Friday took a nip at a passing pedestrian.

The dog bit William K. Tee, 32, of 40 Devereaux St., on the left hand. The police found that the Beals of the town of Egypt, who was visiting at 8 Devereaux St.

The town veterinarian could not be located at the time, so Tee was treated by Dr. Hunt of Lexington.

2 On Bikes Injured By Autos Here

Two men riding bikes—one a bicycle, the other a motor scooter—were injured in collision with autos here Friday. Both were treated at Symmes Hospital.

Charles F. Santasky, 37, of 428 Norfolk St., Somerville, riding a motor scooter, collided at Broadway and Marathon St. with an auto driven by Thomas J. Hackett, 20 Milton St. He was bruised about the left elbow, left hip and the head.

To Help Greet Freshmen At Jackson

Miss Caryl Magnus of 23 Victoria Road is among 70 Jackson College juniors who will play "Big Sister" to freshmen and transfer students entering Jackson College, department for women at Tufts College, this fall.

"Tufts has always been a friendly college and want to be sure that new Jackson girls enjoy their first weeks on campus," explains Elaine Chandler of Reading, Mass. chairman of the "Big Sister" program.

Each junior has already taken several prospective freshmen under her wing, and many of them have visited the girls at home during the Summer. When distance made visits impractical, the juniors wrote informal letters to their "Kid Sisters," telling them what they'll be doing during the opening weeks of the college term, where they'll be going, and what they'll need to bring with them.

Cops Grab Clothing Of 2 A.M. Bathers

Police and attendants at Reservoir Beach had their troubles over the super-heated weekend keeping order—and inducing reluctant bathers to leave at a reasonable hour at night.

Two police officers sent to the beach at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, on a call that a group of nocturnal bathers were still disporting there, found some clothing on the shore—but no sign of bathers.

So the officers, Patrolmen Alexie and Barry, put the clothes in the police cruiser car. At 2:18 o'clock Benjamin H. DeCorta of 400 Pleasant St., Belmont, appeared at the police station.

Alexie and Barry had not reported back to the station yet. They were contacted by radio and they came in with: one pair of trousers, one shorts, one jersey and one sock. This didn't quite comprise a complete wardrobe, but it was just what one of Mr. DeCorta's friends needed to go home properly.

William McFadden, park superintendent, last Friday asked for police assistance in clearing the shores of Reservoir Beach by 9 o'clock every night.

Life Raft, As Wading Pool, Bought For Injured Girl

A rubber life raft is being purchased for little Monica Cotter—at the suggestion of the burned girl's doctors.

The raft will be used as a portable bathing pool, so that when Monica is home between operations her dehydrated little body can soak in water in the sunshine of her backyard.

George Harris of the Monica Trust Fund committee learned last week that doctors had recommended the use of such a raft, and he presented the idea at the committee's meeting last Friday.

The committee immediately and unanimously voted to make the purchase.
